

I Owe My Life to PERUNA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who may be sufferers as he was. Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruna. After some of the best doctors in the country gave me up and told me I could not live another month, Peruna saved me. Travelling from town to town, throughout the country and having to enter all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes standing up for hours at a time while playing my trade as auctioneer, it is only natural that I had colds frequently so when this would occur I paid little attention to it, until last December when I contracted a severe case, which, through neglect on my part, settled on my lungs. When almost too late, I began doctoring, but without avail, until I heard of Peruna. It cured me, so I cannot praise it too highly."

One of War's Tragedies.

"Found in France," runs a personal advertisement in the London Times, "a small snapshot of group: Left, to right—girl, clergyman with mustache, lady with gray hair, officer in uniform with mustache. Taken out of doors, some trees and buildings in background. Above found early in February on the otherwise unidentified body of a man who had lain out on Wythechaete ridge for some time. Sent to by finder, who carefully buried the body." Doubly pathetic is this sole clue to the identity of a dead soldier—a clue so intimately associated with other and happier days.—Youth's Companion.

Still Holding Out.

"I see that trade with Germany has been resumed."
"Not as far as I am concerned."

Caught the Landlord Napping.

"I rented a house today."
"Good. Didn't the landlord object to your six children?"
"I don't know. I talked to him so fast that he forgot to ask me whether or not we had children."

B.A. THOMAS
HOG POWDER

Saves the Bacon

Mr. Pleasant, La.—(When I found sickness appearing in my herd I got a 50 lb. bag of B.A. Thomas Hog Powder. Before I finished feeding it, I was so satisfied that I got another and when my hog was all well I got a third bag and find that twice a week feed keeps them well. Jim Korman, R. ### Case of Poor Judgment.

Just outside of the aviation grounds we came upon a group of urdians crowded about one of their number who was crying bitterly, while being plastered with mud on his face, arms and legs by his frightened companions. When asked what had happened a bright-eyed little chap quickly answered: "Why Sammy, he's been investigating a hanger that belongs to a wasp."—Chicago Tribune.

The Variety.

"The fates are supposed to embroil our life."
"Then in matrimony they must use the cross-stitch."

One might chuckle at the oddities of the petitioner, but none laugh at prayer.

Friends Gave Her Up

Mrs. Hoffman's Recovery From Dropsy a Surprise. She Used Doan's.

"I was in dreadful shape," says Mrs. W. B. Hoffman, 680 Oakley Ave., Hammond, Ill. "There was a sickening pain across the small of my back and when I stooped over, knife-like twinges nearly drove me wild. I had large puffs under my eyes and my body bloated badly all over. My feet were swollen to twice their natural size and the skin looked shiny. When I pressed it down, it left a dent there and I knew I was bad off with dropsy."

Mrs. Hoffman: "My friends didn't think I would live very long. I doctored with three different physicians and they didn't help me and I was discouraged. Nobody knows the torture I went through."
"I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and I was cured. I felt fine. As the swelling went down, my appetite picked up and I was soon perfectly healthy. My color came back and people said I looked as well as ever. Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life."

Knight in 1908 Is Now Pauper

Pitiful Ending of Career of Sir Luke White, Once Member of Parliament.

BANKRUPT AND A WRECK

Some of His Poor Constituents Lost Their All by Trusting It to Him—War Makes Financial Distress Known.

London.—From a position of affluence, popularity and public service which won him a seat in parliament and a knighthood, Sir Luke White is ending his days as the inmate of a workhouse infirmary in Driffield. Clever enough to rise from poverty to a noted career, injudicious investments brought him low, and at the height of his political power he was forced to confess himself bankrupt. He carried down with him numerous trusting constituents, and his liabilities of $135,000 included $95,000 in loans from poor people who had confided their all to him. The shame of having thus wrecked the savings of those who believed in him completely unnerved him. Now he is dependent on public charity, his spirit utterly crushed, and he is one of the most pitiful figures in the north of England.

Began as Office Boy.

Born in Delington, near York, in 1845, he was an office boy at fifteen for a solicitor, who paid him about 90 cents a week. After eight years in that service, of course with increasing income, he became managing clerk for another solicitor in Driffield. In another six years he was admitted to the bar as solicitor, and in the same year he succeeded to the practice of his employer, who had died.

He speedily became known as a local preacher and speaker for a large district, and he was highly popular and successful. For years he was chairman of the local board, and then of the urban district council. Then he went to the East Riding county council. In 1896 he was appointed one of the coroners for East Riding. He acted as election agent for Sir Angus Holden, Liberal member of parliament for the Buckrose division, and when Sir Angus died in 1900 White was chosen as his successor. In 1908 he was knighted.

Popular For Years.

He continued to divide his time between his attendance at Westminster and his business in Yorkshire, but as he gave more time to his parliamentary duties than to his private affairs, his practice suffered. The war brought out the fact that he was in financial distress, and last fall he resigned his seat and filed a petition in bankruptcy. It appeared in the bankruptcy proceedings that some of his poor con-

Friends provided for him for awhile in a sanitarium near Scarborough. When that fund was exhausted he was removed to the workhouse infirmary, which almost adjoins the court in which he formerly practiced.

His fate is now brought afresh to public notice by an action against Herbert Brown, a deputy coroner for the East Riding of Yorkshire, who is charged, jointly with Sir Luke, with having appropriated to the personal use of Sir Luke in 1907 $1,000 entrusted to them by Witham Hatfield for investment. Sir Luke escapes arraignment owing to his physical and nervous collapse.

Thousands of Cats Are Homeless by Prohibition

New York.—Another of the evils of prohibition has been discovered.

Seven thousand cats have been made homeless in New York by the closing up of the saloons, it is estimated. There were well over 7,000 saloons in New York and, outside the fashionable bars in the big hotels, it is estimated that every bar-room had its cat, some of them more than one.

Now that the saloons are closed the cats are homeless.

Adopt Married Man.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Although he is twenty-four years old and married, Lewis Summers Walker has secured foster parents, for the Dauphin county court has approved the application of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham P. Summers to adopt him as their son. Walker has made his home with the aged couple for some years, and they made him their son to escape legal technicalities when they will give him part of their estate.

DAIRY

NO PLACE FOR SCRUB BULLS

Poor Animals Have Done Much Damage to Dairy Interests and Are Worse Than Worthless.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Bull associations, though few in number, wage eternal warfare on the scrub. The scrub bull has done much damage in this country. He is worse than worthless. He lowers the production of all future generations of the herd he heads. He cannot increase milk production even in a herd of scrubs because, like them, he is a scrub. In a herd of better breeding the damage he may do is almost limitless.

The grade bull is little better because, most of his ancestors being scrubs, he is certain to transmit scrub qualities to his offspring. The grade bull may have the form and color markings of a purebred, but he lacks the power to transmit with any degree of certainty the qualities of any high-producing ancestors he may have. That herd is very poor indeed in which a grade bull can make any marked improvement.

A Purebred Bull That Pays.

The registered scrub comes of low-producing registered ancestors, therefore he transmits only inferior qualities to his calves. Registration is not enough to guarantee production. Permanent dairy herd improvement can never come from the scrub, the grade or the registered scrub.

A constant fight against the cattle fever tick has put large portions of the southern states into the tick-free area. Why not inaugurate a similar fight all over the United States against scrub sires, against the scrub, the grade, the registered scrub, against scrub sires of every kind? Taking each state, county by county, why not eliminate the scrub and establish scrub-free areas in every state?

STINGY FEEDER CHEATS SELF

Dairy Cow Must Have Materials for Maintenance as Well as Milk-producing Foods.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The cow requires not only materials for maintenance but must also have protein, fat and carbohydrates to make milk from. The milk contains water, fat, protein (casein or curd), sugar and ash, and these are all made from the constituents of the food. If insufficient protein, fat and carbohydrates are contained in the food given her the cow supplies this deficiency for a time by drawing on her own body, and gradually begins to shrink in quantity or quality of milk, or both. The stingy feeder cheats himself as well as the cow.

FEED AND SALT REGULARLY

Cow Becomes Accustomed to Getting Meals at Certain Time—Deviation Causes Worry.

A cow is pretty much a creature of habit. She becomes accustomed to getting her feed at a certain time each day and if that time arrives without the feed she worries about it and this affects her milk production. For this reason regularity in feeding is very important. Also watering and salting should be attended to punctually. And the water should be good. It is a mistake to require cows to drink tainted water, for it certainly impairs the health if it does not affect the quality of the milk. The man who provides properly for the wants of his cows has a right to expect that they will repay him in a more abundant milk flow.

DAIRY NOTES

A good silo requires also a good ensilage cutter.

In the dairy business harvest continues the year around.

You never saw a cow that would not do better work on good silage than without it.

For a cow that refuses to let down her milk, a feed of something while milking often helps.

The biggest leak in the dairy business comes through keeping two cows to do the work of one.

To estimate the amount of feed left in the silage, figure 1 cubic foot of silage as equal to 40 pounds.

Six Scribbled Words Dispose of Big Estate

New York.—A will of six words, scribbled hastily on the margin of a daily market report four minutes before the testator died, was filed in surrogate's court. The writer was Alexander William Waters, general agent of the American Fruit exchange. With the words, "All I have belongs to Zulma," he left his $200,000 estate to Zulma Powell, his housekeeper. Mr. Waters had just reached his office on July 5, when he was seized by heart failure.

Must Tell Their Exact Age.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Judge F. H. Taft of the superior court has ruled that hereafter when women are asked their ages in his court they must not say, "I'm over twenty-one," but will be required to give the exact years.

Tell the Age of Oceans

Washington.—How old is the ocean? Standing on the shore and looking out over the expanse of water, the ocean seems a fixed and eternal fact, but the seas had a beginning and will have an end. Scientists say that when this time comes the last drop of water will have been absorbed into the earth's crust, its surface will be a desert and all life will become extinct.

The age of the oceans have been estimated by a leading authority, Professor Frank Clarke of the United States Geological survey, at about 90,000,000 years. This, of course, is only an approximation, but is based on carefully studied scientific data.

All the water was once contained in the vapor that surrounded the glowing, slowly cooling mass which is now the earth. After the gases combined to form water the process of making the ocean salt began. This was the work of the rivers. Mineral salts were extracted from the rocks over which they flow and deposited in the sea.

Each year the action of the streams is sufficient to make the ocean slightly more salty, and this is the basis on which its age is calculated. The amount of salt carried by the rivers of the world is computed by the scientists and compared with the total quantity in the ocean. After evaporation and the velocity of currents have been considered, it is possible to calculate how long it has taken to make the sea water as salty as it is today.

About three and a half per cent of mineral salts and 96½ per cent fresh water make up the oceans. Three-fourths of the solid matter is common salt, other ingredients being chloride, sulphate and bromide of magnesium; sulphate and carbonate of lime and sulphate of potash, besides traces of various other minerals and metals, including gold and silver.

Liberty's song is mostly chorus.
